Comparison of Religious Theory in the Late 20th Century

Capitalism-He who dies with the most toys, wins.

Hari Krishna-He who plays with the most toys, wins.

Catholicism-He who denies himself the most toys, wins.

Anglican-They were our toys first.

Greek Orthodox-No, they were OURS first.

Branch Davidians-He who dies playing with the biggest toys, wins.

Atheism-There is no toy maker.

Polytheism-There are many toy makers.

Evolutionism-The toys made themselves.

Church of Christ, Scientist-We are the toys.

Native American-The toys are our brother and sisters.

Communism-Everyone gets the same number of toys, and you will go straight to hell if we catch you selling yours.

B'Hai-All toys are just fine with us.

Amish-Toys with batteries are surely a sin.

Taoism-The doll is as important as the dumptruck.

Mormonism-Every boy can have as many toys as he wants.

Voodoo-Let me borrow that doll for a second.

Hedonism-To heck with the rule book! Let's play!

Hinduism-He who plays with bags of plastic farm animals, loses.

7th Day Adventist-He who plays with his toys on Saturday, loses.

Church of Christ-He whose toys make music, loses.

Baptist-Once played, always played.

Jehovah's Witnesses-He who sells the most toys door-to-door, wins.

Pentecostalism-He whose toys can talk, wins.

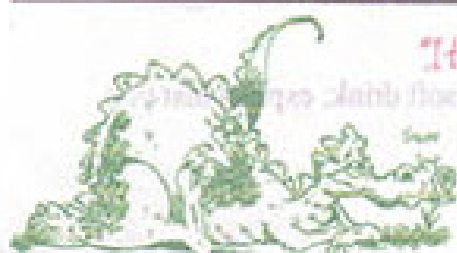

Existentialism-Toys are a figment of your imagination.

Confucianism-Once a toy is dipped in the water, it is no longer dry.

Non-Denominationalism-We don't care where the toys came from, let's just play with them.

Agnosticism-It is not possible to know whether toys make a bit of difference.

Wiccan-Toys work best under a full moon.

The Sun Sets On Another Great Year!

Well, it's that time of the year again...the last weekend of Fest ...time for cheers and tears. This season for "The Knight After" has been absolutely wonderful. I have received many great and supportive comments about my little paper. Also, several people submitted articles and letters that were published. When this paper was started last year, I took a vow not to turn away, dismiss or edit articles unless they used vulgar language. This will continue to be my motto. "The Knight After" has grown from 2 pages printed on 8-1/2 x 11 to 4 pages on 8-1/2 x 14 and from 20 copies initially to 75 copies last week, plus more have been requested! I have kept them on disk, so if you want copies of any of the issues, let me know. At the rate the popularity is expanding, I may have to get a second printer to keep up with next year's demand. As you may or may not know, I do this on my own and at my own expense. NO, I am not asking for compensation. My payback comes with the wonderful support I have gotten about how much you enjoy reading it. I do plan on publishing it again next year and will need articles for it. Many of this year's articles were collected during the time before Fest opened. Please, send me anything of interest that you would like to share. You can e-mail me or talk to me about getting my home address.

Thank you to everyone for the kind words and for the additional articles.

Blessed Be,

Sherry Roth

50 FUN THINGS TO DO AT WAL-MART

Faire Folk®

www.faire-folk.com

1. Take shopping carts for the express purpose of filling them and stranding them at strategic locations.
2. Ride those little electronic cars at the front of the store.
3. Set all the alarm clocks to go off at ten minute intervals throughout the day.
4. Start playing Calvinball; see how many people you can get to join in.
5. Contaminate the entire auto department by sampling all the spray air fresheners.
6. Challenge other customers to duels with tubes of gift wrap.
7. Leave cryptic messages on the typewriters.
8. Re-dress the mannequins as you see fit.
9. When there are people behind you, walk REALLY SLOW, especially in thin narrow aisles.
10. Walk up to an employee and tell him in an official tone, "I think we've got a Code 3 in Housewares," and see what happens.
11. Tune all the radios to a polka station; then turn them all off and turn the volumes up as far as possible.
12. Play with the automatic doors.
13. Walk up to complete strangers and say, "Hi! I haven't seen you in so long!..." etc. See if they play along to avoid embarrassment.
14. While walking through the clothing department, ask yourself loud enough for all to hear, "Who buys this crap, anyway?"
15. Repeat Number 14 in the jewelry department.
16. Ride a display bicycle through the store; claim you're taking it for a "test drive".
17. Follow people through the aisles, always staying about five feet away. Continue to do this until they leave the department.
18. Play soccer with a group of friends, using the entire store as your playing field.
19. As the cashier runs your purchases over the scanner, look mesmerized and say, "Wow. Magic!"
20. Put M & M's on layaway.
21. Move "Caution: Wet Floor" signs to carpeted areas.
22. Set up a tent in the camping department; tell others you'll only invite them in if they bring pillows from Bed and Bath.
23. Test the fishing rods and see what you can "catch from the other aisles."
24. Ask other customers if they have any Grey Poupon.
25. Drape a blanket around your shoulders and run around saying, "I'm Batman. Come, Robin--to the Batcave!"
26. TP as much of the store as possible.
27. Randomly throw things over into neighboring aisles.
28. Play with the calculators so that they all spell "hello" upside down.
29. When someone asks if you need help, begin to cry and ask, "Why won't you people just leave me alone?"
30. When 2 or 3 people are walking ahead of you, run between them yelling, "Red Rover!"
31. Make up nonsense products and ask newly hired employees if there are any in stock, i.e., "Do you have any Shnerples here?"
32. Take up an entire aisle in Toys by setting up a full scale battlefield with G.I. Joes vs. the X-Men.
33. Take bets on the battle described above.
34. Nonchalantly "test" the brushes and combs in Cosmetics.
35. While handling guns in the hunting department, suddenly ask the clerk if he knows where the anti-depressants are.
36. Hold indoor shopping cart races.
37. Dart around suspiciously while humming the theme from "Mission: Impossible".
38. Attempt to fit into very large gym bags.
39. Attempt to fit others into very large gym bags.
40. Say things like, "Would you be so kind as to direct me to your Twinkies?"
41. Set up a "Valet Parking" sign in front of the store.
42. Two words: "Marco Polo."
43. Leave Cheerios in Lawn and Garden, pillows in the Pet Food aisle, etc.
44. "Re-alphabetize" the CD's in Electronics.
45. In the auto department, practice your "Madonna" look with various funnels.
46. When someone steps away from their cart to look at something, quickly make off with it without saying a word.
47. Relax in the patio furniture until you get kicked out.
48. When an announcement comes over the loudspeaker, assume the fetal position and scream, "No, no! It's those voices again!"
49. Pay off layaways fifty cents at a time.
50. Drag a lounge chair on display over to the magazines and relax. If the store has a food court, buy a soft drink; explain that you don't get out much, and ask if they can put a little umbrella in it.

BONUS Attempt all of the above during the same visit!

YOU KNOW YOU'RE AN E-MAIL JUNKIE IF...

1. You wake up at 3 a.m. to go to the bathroom and stop to check your e-mail on the way back to bed.
2. You get a tattoo that reads "This body best viewed with Netscape Navigator 1.1 or higher."
3. You name your children Eudora, Mozilla and Dotcom.
4. You turn off your modem and get this awful empty feeling, like you just pulled the plug on a loved one.
5. You spend half of the plane trip with your laptop on your lap...and your child in the overhead compartment.
6. You decide to stay in college for an additional year or two, just for the free Internet access.
7. You laugh at people with 9600-baud modems.
8. You start using smileys in your snail mail.
9. Your hard drive crashes. You haven't logged in for two hours. You start to twitch. You pick up the phone and manually dial your ISP's access number. You try to hum to communicate with the modem. ...And you succeed.
10. You find yourself typing ".com" after every period when using a word processor.com
11. You refer to going to the bathroom as downloading.
12. You start introducing yourself as "johndoe at aol dot com."
13. All of your friends have an @ in their names.
14. Your cat has its own home page.
15. You can't call your mother...she doesn't have a modem.
16. You check your mail. It says "no new messages". So you check it again.
17. Your phone bill comes to your doorstep in a box.
18. You don't know what sex three of your closest friends are, because they have neutral nicknames and you never bothered to ask.
19. You move into a new house and decide to Netscape before you landscape.
20. You tell the cab driver you live at <http://1000.edison.garden/house/brick.html>.
21. You start tilting your head sideways to smile.

A Fyne Whine

We are flattered that little ol' us & our DEBUT column merited a half page response from The Lordy High Mucky Muck Sheriff. But Bill, your attempted denial in the opening sentence clearly places you in the company camp. We understand and respect your corporate loyalty, however, as you worked in the offices for years...

We regret this is our last issue, as an open debate might healthily air the ills of this organization, possibly leading to positive change. Perhaps next year. A festering boil must be lanced.

Thanks for clarifying the F.O.L.A. story. We had heard it was Peterson, not Pearson, but did suggest talking to an old vet to get it right. Guess the only nickname left we know for Peterson is "Evil Incarnate" (from "Shakespeare").

If Lois so wishes, we too would be glad to offer a contribution to a retirement fund...anonymously, of course. As far as Peterson tossing in a dime...don't hold your breath.

As for the "pimp" story. You are right. It was irresponsible and premature to put it to print, and we regret it. Please understand that we were temporarily abducted by aliens and our capacity to reason was slurred during the transitional return and recovery. Now if our ongoing investigation brings proof...

As far as complaining about the Coffee and Tea Limited loss, it was offered representatively, please understand that this voice is on behalf of dozens of vendors who identify this as by far the worst festival management to deal with on the circuit and Peterson as the most heartless, cutthroat, and abusive owner anywhere. Ask around.

Write them a letter? Peterson will not listen to one voice, unless it talks money. Bonnie seems to lack the capacity to act or even think contrary to Peterson's wishes.

This is a public forum, and these words are intended to challenge ownership and management to begin to consider the needs and wishes of performers, crafters and vendors, if not before and above, at least alongside, bottom line profit margins. In the long run, they do not need to be in conflict, they go hand-in-hand in a healthy organization.

As far as thanking them for the new Front Gate, are you aware that the performers who work the gate submitted a list of suggestions and requests to be considered in the building of it? Not one idea was incorporated.

We do appreciate its beauty, and could spend time giving thanks for the campground, pub and food books and many more good things, but this is decidedly an attack on and a critique of the base working philosophy of MAF, which reflects Peterson's micromanaging dictatorship style of "leadership" - handing down decisions from "on high" without taking the time to communicate with the "hirelings below". We'll leave the kudos to you. We each have our role.

We too are longtime vets of this festival, and despite your suggestion to the contrary, actually enjoy our participation immensely in regards to fellowship with the cast of performers, crafters and vendors, and most of our lovely patrons. Despite miserable leadership from the owner and the trickle down effect it has on management, this is still a wonderful festival, at least for now. And it could get so much better

Do as we say, not as we do dept.: >From the Privy Councilor:

"Just a reminder -- transfer your water, juice, soda, to an appropriate container. Advertising your favorite brand, coffee shop, or gas station while in costume is NOT consider period."

Will someone please inform management of the hypocrisy of attempting to enforce these rules while allowing corporate logos for Bruegger's Bagel Bakery and Disney on the entrance to the Children's Rhealm.

Solution (as you wish Bill): TAKE THE DAMN SIGNS OFF OF THE FENCE! Maybe billboarding could be limited to outside the front gate? Hello...?!?!? Any reminder of contemporary civilization jars performers out of character, and patrons out of the mist of illusion. Is anybody home?

Solutions. Yes Bill. We couldn't agree more. Solutions should be included, so now that we have your attention... Peterson. Sell the festival. You don't love it, appreciate it or really understand it. Certainly by investing the multiple millions it would bring you, you could maintain the high standard of living it has furnished you with. Do us who do love the f a favor and get out. Please.

Management; Listen. Communicate. The workers downline of you know best what is needed, what works and what doesn't work. Before you build, set schedules, plan events, market or anything else, COMMUNICATE with those who will be performing on your creations, keeping your grid schedules, working your private parties and promotional events. We are on the front lines. We know what is best for the festival in the details.

Management: You are abusing your artisans. They are tired of being jerked around. Treat them with respect. Grant them multi-year leases of the shops they build. See how you can HELP THEM get their shops up to code as the county cracks down. They see you as adversaries and rightfully so, and are one with us in considering dealings with you as the only downside of a lovely faire.

Bill, we are sorry that it bothers you that we choose to remain anonymous. We represent many voices, and a single name wouldn't do us justice. If we Were to be revealed prematurely, the potential effect for change would be diluted. And we are not sure Peterson is above hiring a hit man.

33. It's snowing in August and all you think is, "At least the weather is period."
34. You wonder what every girl you meet would look like in a bodice.
35. Your swords/daggers are worth more than your car.
36. Your boots are worth more than your car.
37. You've totaled up your costs and realized that it would be cheaper to be a paying patron every day than it is to be a Festival entertainer.
38. You make sure Festival pays you something, just so you can claim all your Fest acquisitions as tax deductions as an independent contractor's business expense.
39. You've made a point of having fun at the expense of a costumed patron who you recognize as having blown his audition for Festival.
40. You correct your history teacher on a regular basis.
41. You can spell "Renaissance" without looking it up.
42. You can use the word "verily" in a sentence.
43. You know what to do with a pomander.
44. You know how to use an astrolabe.

14. When watching one animal eat another, you've suppressed the urge to say, "Oh, how cute!"
15. You consider your fridge to be a natural place to store beef hearts, and deer heads and chicks.

VII. Domesticity Isn't Pretty

1. You use candles and lanterns inside your house instead of electric lights.
2. Fest is your main source of housewares.
3. You have more leather mugs than glass ones in your kitchen.
4. You've wondered what clan a plaid tablecloth belongs to.
5. You've argued about what clan a plaid tablecloth belongs to.
6. You have a dedicated pleating ground in your home.
7. You've tried to flip the "in use" sign in your bathroom at home.
8. You've searched for quarters before taking a shower at home.
9. While in full costume, you've managed the equivalent of a good shower while standing at the camp water spigot.
10. The concept of sleeping in on the weekend meets your definition of nostalgia.
11. You and a significant other have been sorting laundry and one of you asks, "Are these your tights or mine???"
12. You (a guy)/your boyfriend can discuss the pros and cons of nylon vs. cotton lycra leggings.
13. You could tie your shoes with Celtic knots.
14. You've found yourself thinking that your sleeping bag suddenly is more comfortable than your bed.
15. You think of sheep or goats as common household pets.
16. You've spent more on decorating your tent than on your home.
17. You've had to force yourself to remember that normal shower habits are more than once every three days.
18. The first thing you've done on getting home is to shower - then you got undressed.

VIII. Chemical Abuse

1. You've tried to smoke Fest ditch-wood.
2. You've gotten something other than headaches from smoking Fest ditch-wood.
3. You've gotten blitzed by a campfire, fallen asleep wrapped in your cloak, and woken up hours later soaked with rain thinking how warm and cozy you were.
4. You've done your show hung over.
5. You've done your show still drunk/high the next morning.
6. You've done your show still drunk/high the next afternoon.
7. You've stayed perfectly in character while blacked out.
8. You gauge the quality of your alcohol by the size of flame it will produce when poured on a campfire.
9. You've been so oblivious that you didn't notice your feet were in the campfire until your boot soles started to burn.

IX. While answering a question on this Purity Test, you thought, "As if Nobody does THAT!" Then you realized that YOU'VE done it.

- X. While answering a question on this Purity Test, you wondered "Doesn't Everybody???"
