ARTISAN market

The flourishing of the visual arts during the Renaissance was accompanied by a marked improvement in the social position of the artist. Increasingly detached from the sphere of the craftsman and the guild, artists began to be recognized as individuals with unique talents. They claimed and were accorded respect, not just for technical virtuosity but for imagination and intellect.

AT FOLKSTONE HALL

The Renaissance Collection

The Music Chamber of the Hall will be filled with the lyrical strains of Medieval and Renaissance Music.

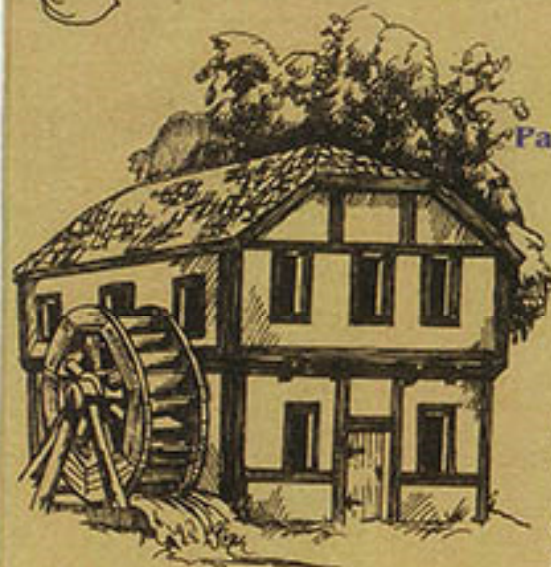

TRADE MYSTERIES REVEALED

Chandlers, goldsmiths, mercers, drapers and shoemakers are among the many Festival artisans and traders in their shops who demonstrate their crafts, using tools and methods unchanged for centuries.

At the Scottish Croft, SEVEN STRANDS performs the Old World techniques of wool carding, spinning, natural dyes, and Oriental rug weaving. Sun dials are cast in metal at the BRONZE QUILL FOUNDRY, and the art of the Smithy is accomplished with the anvil, hammer and forge at PIETY HILL BLACKSMITHS in the Bad Manor courtyard.

A Beehive Wood Kiln and a Salt Kiln at BANNER OAK POTTERY will fire greenware thrown by master potters, where you may join by taking some clay for a spin on a potter's wheel. Near Balliná, the Irish Farm, the archaic craft of armor making is displayed at PENDRAGON ARMOURY. A mass of molten glass is hand blown into luminous drinking vessels by CHIMAERA GLASS in Cartwheel Cove. Watch as red hot pots cool from the raku kiln at ARROWHEAD STUDIOS. In the meadow near Narrow Market – SCULPTOR KENT NERBURN transforms a tree into a work of art.

These and the many artisans at work will teach the tricks of their trade to attentive onlookers.

AT PENWHEEL PRESS

Papermaking at the Wheel House

Wind Rose Mill works the wheel and press as they use ancient techniques to make paper and wood block and touché prints.

Free Calligraphy Lessons

The Crown Calligraphers give free lessons at 12:30, 2:00, 3:30 and 4:30 daily. Learn Gothic Script from these Renaissance Masters. Observe as delicate scrolls and script are created and added to the Calligraphy Exhibit.

BRUEGHEL COTTAGE

Guildhall of the Masters

Each weekend the Brueghel Cottage becomes the home for a different craft medium to be explored and explained by an Artist-in-Residence. Visit and learn the mysteries of leather working, weaving, pottery, and other crafts from a Renaissance Master.
