Capture the Spirit as you enjoy the jubilation of the time at the 1998 Minnesota Renaissance Festival!

Renaissance History

The Renaissance period was an era of great change, economic recovery, the birth of the middle class or bourgeoisie, the fall of the corrupt papacy and church, a great renewal of the arts. The "rebirth" associated with this period was more of a slow progression, blending the practices of medieval life with the timeless ideals of classical antiquity. The spirit of the Renaissance is what we aim to capture, if only for seven autumn weekends each year.

Labyrinth Garden

Labyrinths offer a journey of presence by inviting the walker into sacred space. It is also a venue for meditation or problem solving. To walk a labyrinth is to make a pilgrimage to discover something about ourselves or God. The destination is not important; the journey is!

Labyrinths have been known to the human race for over 3,500 years, conjuring such images as the legend of Theseus and the Minotaur. They have been used in many different religious ways by a variety of cultures, and as solar and lunar calendars.

They were used in the Renaissance era by pilgrims, unable to fulfill their desire to make a pilgrimage to Jerusalem. Instead, they went to alternative sites in Europe and Britain that contained labyrinths.

Walking the labyrinth models the classical three-fold spiritual path. Walking in: purgation, emptying or letting go. Time in the center: illumination, clarity, insight. Walking out: union, initiative, integration, and action in the world.

The basic parts of the labyrinth are the mouth, the paths and the goal. The mouth is the entrance and exit of the labyrinth, each part has a special meaning or task, and the goal is the completion. In many examples of labyrinth meditations, the goal is the point you contact the gods.

We invite you to walk our Labyrinth, located behind the Special Events Pavilion. Whatever your reason, we hope that your journey is most satisfying.

you don't have to die
to go to pancake heaven

Just get out of bed and come to French Meadow Bakery & Cafe, where every morning beginning at 6 a.m. we have our griddle fired up to make the most amazing oversize pancakes in the universe, served with 100% pure maple syrup, in luscious fruit & nut varieties that change daily - like Cherry Pecan, Wild Rice Blueberry, Peach Almond, Banana Walnut, or wherever else our imagination takes us. For purists and sissies, we'll even leave out the fruit, nuts, or both, for the ultimate plain buttermilk cakes. And don't forget that there's much more on our full breakfast menu, plus an array of organic coffees, teas, fresh-squeezed juices, and, of course, our famous baked goods. So come in and see what's on - you won't leave hungry, and we'll pretend not to notice you're still in your pajamas.

NANCY CHIEN-ERIKSEN
Shop #722-723 - Paintings & Prints

This year marks the 25th anniversary of Nancy Chien-Eriksen's career as a professional artist based out of Petaluma, CA.

Chien-Eriksen works with a variety of materials, including watercolor, pastel, acrylic, scratchboard, airbrushes and sometimes a combination of all materials in a single painting. Often her customers believe her shop consists of many artists' work, due to the versatility of her talents. She particularly loves creating paintings with animals, romance, moving interpretations of horses, cats of all sizes, wildlife, mythological beasts and delicate fairies and angels.

Chien-Eriksen first brought her fantasy images to the Minnesota Renaissance Festival in 1986. She works side by side with her husband of three decades, who has been complementing her art with his custom matting and framing for the past 23 years.

After graduating magna cum laude from U.C.L.A. in Fine Arts and Art History, Chien-Eriksen toured Italy, studying its art. She described those years as "true magic," encouraging anyone interested in the arts to make a pilgrimage to Italy.

Her own magic work has been shown in hundreds of juried events, art shows and in numerous publications. Earlier this year, she was the featured artist at the San Rafael Italian Street Painting Festival, where she completed a 12" x 12" pastel painting in two days. Visit Nancy Chien-Eriksen's web site at www.NancyArt.com to learn more about her, her work and her achievements.

RJ. DEGE Shop # 205

Your family heirloom is waiting for you. R.J. Dege's hand-crafted jewelry pieces make the perfect unique addition to anyone's jewelry collection. A native of Minnesota, Dege has been making jewelry for 26 years and first appeared at the Renaissance Festival at its 1971 premier in Jonathon.

Dege said, "Each piece is hand-drawn, cut, repressed and soldered. Everything is completely unique. Even sets of earrings don't exactly match." He molds his jewelry from four colors of 14K gold, sterling silver, precious and semi-precious stones out of which he cuts each leaf and flower by hand.

Originally, he was formally trained as a painter at the Minneapolis School of Art and Design, but soon found his real talent and passion were in designing and crafting jewelry. He is a self-taught jeweler whose style reflects romance and feminine qualities that transcend time.

DAVID KROEGER Shop #1233

Few artists choose to express their talent through multiple mediums; David Kroeger is an active member of this elite category. His two passions, glass blowing and ceramics, united in 1978 at his studios, Sasglamerics, in Mankato, MN. The creative name was inspired by the combination of the letters of the words "glass" and "ceramics."

His personality is highly visible in his work. An avid outdoorsman, Kroeger often implements themes from nature in his art. You might find his glass as animated goblets or his ceramics as walleye fountains, but both almost always feature the influence of Mother Nature.

Kroeger spent his formative years in college working with glass and ceramics and could never make himself part with one in favor of the other. He enjoys the sense of balance the two mediums give him. "Glass is a liquid, flowing state, demanding the artist work with precise speed and spontaneity before it sets. On the other hand, stoneware clay sets up slowly, allowing the artist to manipulate the form over a period of hours and days," Kroeger said.

NATASHA TREUER Shop # 134

As a little girl, Natasha Treuer made paper dresses for her dolls. By the time she was a teenager, she had enough confidence in her work to wear her own designs to high school dances and proms.

Natasha used her passion for design and turned it into her life. She very much enjoys the life of an artist. Her experience studying tailoring in Europe has been a great influence on her designs. At her store Natasha in New Prague, she has created and sold primarily bridal pieces and woolen coats and suits since 1988. Before that, she worked with her husband in a joint venture called Smith Leather. Together they produced wears that appeared on celebrities such as Jesse the Body, who wore a boa constrictor coat by Natasha on Jay Leno.

Natasha is especially proud of the work she has done with the Renaissance Festival. Along with her booth, she has also designed many award-winning costumes for the Festival, including the costume Queen Caroline wore in 1984 and other royalty costumes. Preparation for the Festival consumes a great portion of her year, "Even though the Festival is only seven weeks, I work on it for about six to eight months!"
